True Mates At First Sight

by APastandFutureNerd

Summary

On a whim, Frank Cosgrove introduces his new Danish colleague Allan Fischer from Unit One, an alpha, to Nolan Price. Nolan feels an instant attraction and connection to Allan.

Notes

I wrote this on a whim in order not to get completely rusty. This is vey likely the last fic published in 2022. This year was not my best one concerning writing (and so many other things) but I hope things will change for the better again.

I wish you all a happy new year 2023 in advance :) Take care!

Nolan jerked as the door to his office opened and footsteps resounded in the room.He had been so immersed in the files and research for the case within the last few hours, he hadn't noticed anyone rushing by his office or coming in.The attorney raised his head and looked up.

Detective Cosgrove and a man he didn't know stepped into his office.What he immediately noticed was the fact that the stranger was good-looking and probably an alpha. Nolan put his documents aside, sat up on the comfortable leather couch and smiled at them both as politely as possible, trying to hide his annoyance at being interrupted in his important work.

"Hey Price. Good to see you. I knew you would still be working." Cosgrove remarked with a sly grin and offered his hand. "Hi Cosgrove. What can I do for you?" Nolan's eyes instantly darted back to the mysterious, attractive younger man and analysed him shortly.

The omega breathed in the invigorating, refreshing scent that floated through the air. It evoked feelings and interest in him that he hadn't felt for other alphas. This was remarkable to say the least.

He had slicked back dark hair, determined, sharp maroon eyes and and sharp cheekbones that G-O-D had chiseled himself.Their gazes locked and Nolan's heart thudded against his ribcage as he drank from the depths of the eyes that had gained flecks of amber and green in them when he looked closer. His legs grew wobbly and he had to clutch the desk for balance as he pulled himself up from the couch.

As if it wasn't enough, a few drops of slick oozed out of his ass and soaked his boxers. His cheeks ran hot in embarrassment.

Geez, that was bad.

He couldn' go into heat now. Hia surroundings blurred in front of his eyes for the briefest instant and the voices got muffled and distant. Nolan forced himself to look away and offer his hand. He missed.

The detective frowned when the lawyer seemed distracted as his companion reached out for his hand and Nolan missed it." Price, are you okay?" Nolan forced out a laugh while he fought off the intrusive thoughts of his omega hindbrain. "I…uh…just got a lot going on in my head." He let out a nervous chuckle.

"I can see that," Cosgrove remarked with a knowing, teasing smile. He was one of the few that knew of his Omegan status. "Price, I sadly don't have any news on the damn shooting but I wanted to introduce the newest addition to our department. He's from Denmark and has remarkable expertise and experience in solving homicide cases."

"Hi, I'm Allan Fischer," the younger alpha introduced himself in a raspy voice, exposing his shark-like teeth in a cheeky grin.When Nolan reached and shook his hand, he gasped as a wave of electricity and warmth rushed through him. Also, voices and images exploded in his brain.

What the hell is that about?

Nolan was too stunned to speak and noticed the same thing happening to Allan Fischer. His dark eyes widened and his jaw dropped in surprise before the usual brash smirk appeared on his face. The magical moment between them was over and time moved on.

Cosgrove raised his eyebrows shortly as he felt the building tension in the room but didn't choose to comment. "Well, it's true,I worked for the special force unit "Rejseholdet" for a considerable amount of time," Allan continued. "It's time for me to start a new chapter and help the Americans to investigate crimes the Danish way." His grin widened. Cosgrove laughed amiably.

The omega searched for suitable words but all he could think about now was the memories or the thoughts he had seen, how thick Allan's cock must be as the bulge was already big and how badly he wanted to be fucked and knotted by this younger alpha. Even the image of him carrying his pup flashed up in his mind.

Nolan never wanted pups before.

The omega ruffled his hair and managed to say “Congratulations. I’m glad you’re here and looking forward to…uh…working together with you, Mr. Fischer and hope to get more justice done with your help.”

Allan Fischer’s eyes gained a flirtatious and even hungrier expression. Nolan was sure Allan had seen what he had been thinking about. “It’s fine you can call me, Allan.” A slight purr rolled from his throat as he said that. Nolan managed to suppress the corresponding Omegan whine, even if his throat burned from the effort of suppressing the purring and whining.

“I’m Nolan to you ,” he responded. “District attorney.” His voice sounded hoarse and higher-pitched. Allan scrutinized his body thoroughly, making Nolan quiver with want. “Well, you better have that beer without me,” Cosgrove interrupted them. His phone buzzed in his hand. “My family needs me.”

”Fischer, you’ll be alright ?”

Allan winked at Nolan shortly before he turned to Cosgrove. ““Sure, man. No problem. I’m in good company now.” Cosgrove smiled at him then winked at Nolan. “See you around, Price.”

As he watched Cosgrove leave, Nolan finally deduced it was a set up and an attempt of matchmaking. Or was it an accident?

A pregnant pause hung in the air. Either way, Nolan wasn’t completely unhappy, even if this went way too fast. He had felt so lonely in the last months as Samantha had rebuked his advances over and over again with the excuse of separating work from private life and all the one-night stands didn’t lead anywhere.

Things changed, though. Allan was here and had erased his old grievances within only a few moments. “So, what now?” Allan asked, daring to move closer to breach the distance, his gaze burning into Nolan’s long, exposed neck. He leaned against Nolan’s desk and sat down next to him, his hand briefly brushing against the lawyer’s.

At last, Nolan tore his gaze away from the door and shifted closer to the alpha on the desk. The musky, earthy and peppery scent intensified.His breathing grew heavier. Quiet whines left his throat as well.

His pants had gotten unbearably tight and his underwear was completely drenched with slick. Nolan was sure the alpha smelled the flowery, sweet fragrance by now. His eyebrows quirked up in a sexy way. “I think you know what’s coming for us. We’re true mates.”

The honey-brown color faded from Allan’s eyes and made space for flecks of red.“Yeah, I do.” They leaned towards each other and their mouths collided in a passionate kiss. They snarled, whined and growled whilst tearing at their clothes like ferocious animals. Nolan's expensive suit jacket was the first to go, followed by his tie and white shirt.

Whilst kissing, moaning and groping each other's bodies, the couple managed to lock the door in time before collapsing on the couch with Allan still being partly clothed. All documents scattered across the floor as Allan made love to Nolan, claimed and knotted him.
